

◆ Additional information

There are a number of initiatives promoted by the Economic Development and Environmental & Consumer Protection Division. Please tick below if you would like to receive more information and to be contacted about them in the future:

www.angusahead.com

The official website for information on living in, doing business in, and visiting Angus, attracting almost 250,000 visitors annually. Opportunities are available for free business listings, free promotion of business through news releases and event details, and the ability to link to business websites. Angusahead.com/business is the business shop window for Angus, providing a wide range of information that focuses on business support, skills and workforce details.

Angus Ambassador Awards

An annual celebration of the achievements and ambition of the county - its businesses, its communities and its young people.

Angus in China

An initiative focussing on helping local companies do business in China.

AngusProperty.com

A joint venture between Angus Council and the Scottish Property Network, this website provides up to date information on all available private and public owned commercial property in Angus, a customisable search function, and local property news.

Angus Reputable Traders Scheme (ARTS)

ARTS is managed by Angus Council Trading Standards service. It has been introduced with the intention of establishing a reliable and honest trading environment. Trading Standards will work with businesses dedicated to providing consumers with a service that is fair and reliable, to the benefit of businesses and customers.

Business Advisory Service

Angus Council's free, confidential business advice to new and existing businesses of all types operating in Angus. In addition to offering support and advice regarding accessing the Council's own loan and grant schemes, the Advisory Service can help businesses identify regional and national programmes which local companies may be eligible for.

Carnoustie Country

Carnoustie Country is the golf destination brand established by Angus Council in 1999. Carnoustie Country consists of over 30 courses in Angus, East Perthshire, Dundee and Fife. The Carnoustie Country marketing campaign promotes Angus and the surrounding area as a golf tourism and golf heritage destination.

Tartan Day/Tartan Week

Tartan Day is a celebration of Scottish heritage on April 6, the date the Declaration of Arbroath was signed in 1320. Tartan Week is a week long celebration of all things Scottish in the lead up to Tartan Day.

The Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002, gives anyone a legal right to ask the Council for any information that it holds. Subject to limited exemptions the Council must provide the information requested. However, the Council can hold back information where to release it would substantially prejudice commercial interests. Some of the information given in Part B may fall into this category. The Council deals with requests for information on a case by case basis. If the Council receives a request for any information that you have provided in Part B, we may consult you before taking a decision as to whether we can withhold the information under the commercial interests exemption as described above.
