

Port Information

General

Arbroath Harbour is located at 56° 33' N, 2° 35' W. Usage of the port is from a mixture of commercial fishing vessels and small craft offering day trips to anglers and sightseers, and leisure craft. All harbour users regardless of type are actively encouraged to make use of the harbour and available support services.

Half height dock gates with a walkway are located between the inner and outer harbours maintaining a minimum of 2.5m of water in the inner harbour at all times. This allows the 59 floating finger pontoons which have a security entrance and are serviced with electricity and fresh water, to accommodate all types of leisure craft offering permanent or visiting berth facilities.

The town of Arbroath offers a variety of social and sporting amenities to visiting crews and a number of quality pubs and restaurants are located close to the harbour.

The Arbroath railway station is only 1km from the harbour with direct north and south connections. International air services to most European destinations can be made from Edinburgh or Aberdeen, both approximately just over one hour's drive away.

Port Access

Arbroath harbour is tidal. A tide information booklet can be obtained from the harbour office (£2 per copy). The opening and closing times of the dock gates are also available on a monthly basis.
