The Pre-birth Resource Allocation Meeting can help you when you are pregnant or after your baby is born.

The people at these meetings will talk about the help you might need.

The people at these meetings might be from:

Social Work

Health

Criminal Justice Services

Housing

Police

The people at the meeting will:-

Find out more about you and your baby.

Help you with problems you might have looking after your baby.

Get support to help you look after your baby

Everyone at the meeting needs information about you and your baby's
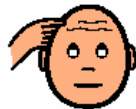

They need to share information so they can help you and your baby.

You will be asked if it is OK to share this information.

You have been referred to the PRAM because someone is worried about you and or your baby.

You might think that you don't need help or support

PRAM might decide that your information needs to be shared without your permission. We will let you know if we need to do this.

PRAM have the right to give other people information to keep your baby safe, even if you don't want them to.

PRAM have the right to give other people information to keep your baby safe, even if you don't want them to.

Social Work

Health

Police

How can PRAM help?

PRAM will look at information sent by people who know you.
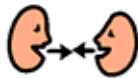

These people might be:

Midwife

GP

Health Services

PRAM might look at information from other people who have supported you in the

This will help PRAM to find out what support you might need, now and after your baby is born.
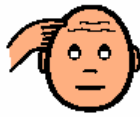

Feedback from parents on how PRAM helped.

"Workers fully explained what was being assessed and why"

"Helped me to manage my substance misuse problems"

"We wouldn't have got our baby home without social work help"

We would like to know what you think

Do you need more help?

YES ☐

NO ☐

What help do you need to care for your baby?

_____

_____

_____

If you have any questions about PRAM or what will happen next, you can speak to the person who referred you to us. Their details are below.

Name of Referrer:

……………………………….

Contact phone number
…………………………..

PRAM

Pre-birth Resource Allocation Meeting